Plans Completed for Patriotic Rally at School Monday Night

Great Assemblage Expected at Washington Bi-Centennial Observance; Cook, Schrepfer, Stites and Keighton to Speak

NARBERTH PLAYERS PARTICIPATE IN PROGRAM

Plans will be concluded this week-end to assure proper dispatch to the numerous features of the patriotic rally which will occur on next Monday evening, February 22, at 8.15 o'clock, in observance of the George Washington Bi-Centennial at the Public school auditorium, and which is expected to attract the largest assembly of Narberth citizens ever gathered for a single indoor occasion.

According to statements from the Bi-Centennial Committee, offers to broadcast the rally have not been encouraged, on the score that one of the chief values of the event will be the outpouring of the people, with the stress with such a turnout will place on patriotic factors, and, it is claimed, it is no part of the spirit of the anniversary to aid and abet a leisurely evening at home when the highly numerous presence of the populace at a town meeting will afford an impressive manifestation of the affectionate regard which is still held for the Nation's Great and the obligations which are due them from the present generations of Americans.

Children not accompanied by adults will not be admitted and otherwise no cards or tickets will be necessary and no call will be made for contributions.

From first to last, the evening will be altogether a Narberth affair, with Messrs. Cook, Schrepfer and Stites handling the oratorical portion, whilst Rev. Robert E. Keighton will read the far-famed "Farewell Address."

The School Orchestra will provide the music and a group of the Eighth Grade Girls will dance a minuet of Colonial days to the strains of Mozart's "Don Juan."

The Narberth Players, under the direction of Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, will present the prize-winning "A Decision At Dawn," selected as first choice from the hundreds of short plays entered in the Washington Bi-Centennial Playwriting Contest, with Rev. Samuel McAdams in the stellar role of George Washington.

Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood, a member of the committee, has made an extensive survey of the Revolutionary songs and those best acclaimed by tradition will be printed on the souvenir programs for rendition by the audience.

The financial sponsors of the evening are C. P. Cook, Captain William J. Crosson, U. S. M. C.; Robert J. Dothard, Henry A. Frye, Esq., Rev. Robert F. Hayes, Edward S. Haws, James L. McCrery, Carl B. Metzger, Robert J. Nash, Dr. O. J. Snyder, Fletcher W. Stites, Esq., Fred. Walzer, John B. Williams, Robert Fellows Wood and Louis A. Young.

The members of the Narberth Washington Bi-Centennial Committee include Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, Mrs. John C. Nash, Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood, Arthur L. Cooke and W. J. Drennan, with J. J. Cabrey as chairman.

Players Presenting the 'Dover Road' Now

Milne's Intriguing Play Being Given This Thursday and Friday

HAS SPLENDID CAST

"The Dover Road is a dangerous road,—and you are traveling in the dark." So speaks the mysterious Mr. Latimer to his guests—who are not quite sure, really, that they are not more prisoners than guests in his beautiful—but strange—home, just "off" the Dover Road. How the truth of the matter occurred to Leonard, Eustacia, Nick, and Anne—and what resulted—these are subjects of highly entertaining interest to the audience of the "Dover Road"—the second production of the Narberth Players' 1932 repertoire.

While the plot is unusual—to say the least,—and just mysterious enough to whet the interest for the next scene and the next—as a mystery novel draws the eye to read chapter after chapter—the "Dover Road's" most potent charm lies in the clever, witty lines of the persons who comprise its cast, including the well known players, Miss Lucia Keim, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, Mrs. Faith Farmer, Messrs. J. Bedford Wooley, Art Cooke, W. H. Muller, Alan Smith and E. E. Hackman, under the able directorship of Mrs. H. I. McConnell.

The "Dover Road" is not a scene of poverty, or grim tragedy, but is staged in a living room made attractive by the "better things of life" (assisted and gathered together by the ingenious stage-hands). It is just the kind of play to chase grim thoughts of depression, wars and failures away, and let one enjoy a fragment of life that is amusing, human, and perhaps—just a trifle—uplifting in easy dosage. You'll love the "staff"—yes, there is a butler, maid and man servants; you'll love the English atmosphere,—yes, there is a coal-grate fireplace,—a buffet-served breakfast and—whiskys—'n' soda. You'll love the characters,—the men are great—the girls charming,—and their costumes—late 1932 models!—you'll be inspired for your Spring wardrobe purchasing! In fact, you'll love the whole evening devoted to seeing the "Dover Road." Which shall it be? Thursday or Friday evening? If you attend on Thursday—you have the distinction of being a first-nighter. If you choose Friday, you will have the added thrill of hearing a twenty-

History of Parent-Teachers is Related

Mrs. Walter Greenwood, State Head, is Speaker at Borough Association

MOTHERS' CHORUS SINGS

"May the coming years be rich in fruitful service by our National Congress of Parents and Teachers for the highest welfare of the child in Home, Church, School and State." This statement, expressed as the wish of Mrs. David O. Mears, National Chairman of Founders' Day, was the central theme of Founders' Day meeting of the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association, held in the school Monday evening.

The aim of the association, as expressed by Mrs. Walter Greenwood, State President of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is a closer working relation between the home and school. Mrs. Greenwood, the speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting talk on the history of the P. T. A. from the time Mrs. Birney was elected President, in 1895, when the organization was called the Congress of Mothers until 1924, when the name was changed to National Congress of Parents and Teachers, because of the large numbers of fathers who associated themselves with the movement.

The Mothers' Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Drennan, sang Shu-

BOON TO THE STRANGER

Has it ever been your experience to have out-of-town visitors hunt all over this part of the Main Line before being directed properly to your home? And have you frequently been called upon to direct strangers to confused addresses in this section?

To avoid this confusion and inconvenience in Narberth is one of the aims of the Executive Board of the Narberth Business Council, according to a questionnaire circulated recently. President Ralph S. Dunne propounded it and twenty-three other questions, and is now receiving replies to them from the forty-seven members of the recently formed business group. Fourteen of these replies were read at the monthly meeting of the Council held in the Arcadia Restaurant 1 P. M. Wednesday.

Narberth Club Hears of Martha Washington

"The Return of Martha Washington," impersonated by Mrs. Mathias Steelman, who was gowned in a frock of the Colonial period, at the George Washington Bi-Centennial Celebration of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth, was an outstanding feature of the program on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Steelman gave a vivid description of the life of Martha Washington, from her early childhood, her debutante days, her marriage to Daniel Parke Custis at the age of seventeen, her widowhood and her courtship by Colonel Washington, which resulted in their marriage, as well as many interesting incidents which occurred during the Revolutionary War and the time that followed when Washington became the First President of the New Country.

Martha Washington's maiden name was Dandridge, and she was descended from an ancient family who migrated to the Virginia Country. She was born in the county of New Kent, in May, 1732. Following her marriage to Custis she lived at "the White House," on the banks of the Pamunkey River. Mrs. Custis was

This action was taken in co-operation with the Community Celebration Committee, headed by J. J. Cabrey. Members of the Post will decorate the Community Building and will co-operate with citizens and merchants in decorating homes and places of business.

It was also voted to establish a display in the community to attract attention to the Legion drive for new members. This work was put under the direction of C. J. Clarke, Post

Dr. Gordon Suppresses Report of Main Line Depositors Committee

Temporary Injunction Secured by State Banking Department at Norristown on Wednesday From Judge Harold G. Knight

SAY PUBLICATION HARMFUL TO DEPOSITORS

William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, invoked the power of injunction Wednesday to restrain the Main Line Depositors' Committee from giving out any information regarding the closed Merion Title and Trust Company.

The temporary injunction was granted by Judge Harold G. Knight at a hearing in the Court House at Norristown.

Aaron S. Swartz, Jr., appeared as counsel for Dr. Gordon. The Main Line Depositors' Committee was represented by Walter R. Faries, chairman of the committee.

Last week the committee was threatened with criminal action providing they held to their plan of releasing for publication a detailed analysis of the assets and liabilities of the Merion Title and Trust Company.

At a meeting of the Depositors' Committee on Monday night members decided to keep faith with the depositors of the closed institution and the people at large and release their detailed report as originally intended. They notified Dr. Gordon in an ultimatum of legal courtesy that without restraining action was taken before six o'clock Wednesday night, February 17, that their report would be released to the newspapers for publication.

Defendants in the Bill of Complaint seeking issuance of the injunction are all members of the Main Line Depositors' Committee. They are Walter R. Faries, chairman; George L. Hall, Yern Jorgenson, Franklin P. Kromer, Benjamin H. Ludlow and David G. Wilson.

In his petition to the Court for a restraining injunction Dr. Gordon stated:

"That the publication of said report in whole or in part will be inimical and prejudicial to the best interests of the creditors and depositors of the Merion Title and Trust Company of Ardmore."

The injunction granted will continue for ten days. Motion for a further continuance or a permanent injunction will be heard by the Court on February 26, at 10 A. M., in Court Room B at the Court House in Norristown.

Dr. Gordon's suppressing arguments are hung on Section 12 of the Banking Act of June 15, 1923, P. L. 809, as amended.

The section reads under the title of "Disclosure of Information Forbidden; Exceptions;—"

"Neither the secretary nor any deputy, examiner, or employee of the department shall, directly or indirectly, wilfully exhibit, publish or divulge, or make known, to any person or persons, any record, report, statement, letter or other matter, fact, or thing, contained in said department, or ascertained from many of the same, or from any examination made under the provisions of this act, excepting in such a manner as is expressly au-

Movies of Alaska to Feature Men's Club

Pictures Taken by Frank Stiefel to Be Exhibited Thursday Evening

AT METHODIST CHURCH

A moving picture recital of a trip through Alaska, the attractive empire of the north, will be given by Frank C. Stiefel, of Narberth, on Thursday evening, February 25, at 8 o'clock, in the Church parlor of the Narberth M. E. Church, as the feature of the Men's Club meeting.

These pictures are in color and of rare quality. The admission is free. The Club extends a cordial welcome to every man in town to come along on this trip into the heart of Alaska, leaving Seattle by stately steamer, and passing through the coastal water-channels of matchless beauty to Skaguay, thence by little narrow-gauge train over the old trail of '98, through White Pass to Carcross, and there taking a back-wheel steamer, ascending the famous Yukon to Atlin, where we'll have refreshments.

County Tax Rate to Be Three Mills, Commissioners Say

The tax rate for Montgomery County has been fixed at 3 mills for 1932, the same as last year, it was announced by the County Commissioners, William D. Ridgeway, H. Stanley Drake and Grover C. Albright.

The Commissioners state that it was necessary to keep the same rate this year because of the shrinkage in real estate and personal property values, the taxes on both being slow in coming in. The County's 1932 budget was cut nearly a million dollars in order to maintain the present three mill rate.

Nason Elected Director

Walter H. Nason, of Narbrook Park, was elected a director of the Community Health and Civic Association at the annual meeting of the organization held at Ardmore on Monday, Mrs. Fletcher W. Stites was also re-elected a director of the Association.

Scientist to Speak at Baptist Church

Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, National Authority on Wild Flowers, Here Tuesday

AT MEN'S ASSOCIATION

A large gathering of nature lovers is expected at the Baptist Church of the Evangel, Narberth, on Tuesday evening to hear an illustrated talk by Dr. Edgar T. Wherry on "Exploring for Wildflowers."

The occasion is the regular meeting of the James C. Simpson Men's Association of the Baptist Church, organized last month. Officers of the organization point out that attendance at the meetings is not limited to any specific group of men and all interested are cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Wherry, who has been connected with the University of Pennsylvania as professor of botany since 1930, was formerly with the United States Department of Agriculture as a chemist and soil expert in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils.

His interest in the soil preference of native plants led to a trip last summer, in company with Dr. Francis W. Pennell, curator of botany at the Academy of Natural Sciences, to the northwestern part of the country to collect specimens of plants.

The journey took the naturalists through Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana, including regions seldom or never explored by botanists before. Lasting three months the tour resulted in the collection of many specimens of the phlox and snapdragon families, which are among the best liked garden flowers. These were collected in the valleys, on the plains, and even up to the snow line on high mountains.

Dr. Wherry, whose special work at the University is in plant ecology (the science of plants in relation to their environment), is president of the Philadelphia Botanical Club, a member of the Botanical Society of Pennsylvania, and a member of the Graduate Botanical Club of the University of Pennsylvania. He is a former president of the Wildflower Preservation Society.

The meeting on Tuesday is called for 8 P. M. Walter B. Taft, President of the Men's Association, will preside.

Tenebrae Factae Sunt

When a business man goes bankrupt there are meetings at which the creditors may examine the bankrupt, look over the records and take some steps to protect their interests and to discover just where they stand.

When a banking institution goes on the rocks, a blank wall of mystery separates the depositors and general creditors from the affairs of the bankrupt. The victims of the crash must sit in the dark until the Secretary of Banking wills it otherwise. In the meantime the process of liquidation and destruction go on.

In an age when hysteria and mistrust can do incalculable damage it is astonishing that State officials should foster this complete silence about banks, living and dead. It is a source of wonder to some 20,000 depositors of the Merion Title & Trust Company that not one word of much-needed information has come from reliable sources, save the brief conclusions of the depositors' committee, published last week.

The temporary injunction granted Wednesday by Judge Harold G. Knight at the request of Dr. William D. Gordon, Secretary of Banking, prohibits the committee from publishing or divulging the contents of the report they have been preparing for some weeks. By inference it also binds the newspapers to silence concerning any part of the report of which they are aware.

Back of all this may lie a real policy on the part of Dr. Gordon to protect the public interest. The hearing on the permanent injunction may reveal these reasons. But in the meantime what is to be done to satisfy the need of thousands of depositors for some sort of information? If Dr. Gordon does not want the committee to speak out in meeting, what prompt steps will he take to supply some sort of a post for the community to tie to?

We will accept the idea that the injunction is invoked in the best of faith and for the good of all. We cannot accept the idea of a bank with millions in money belonging to taxpayers and depositors being liquidated silently and secretly.

You are a very busy man, Dr. Gordon. You are faced with a difficult and delicate situation throughout the State. You are doing your best to cope with the problem. But, after all, it is not your personal savings which are shrouded in mystery.

Still Worse Than War!

About a year ago the fact that more persons were killed in automobile accidents during an 18-month period than were killed in the A. E. F. in the World War was extensively commented upon. Now, according to a booklet issued by an insurance company, automobile accidents are still worse than war. During 18 months of the World War 50,510 American soldiers were killed in action or died of wounds, and 182,674 were wounded, not mortally. In the 18 months ending December 31, 1931, 53,650 people were killed in automobile accidents and 1,576,840 were injured.

The booklet emphasizes some information that every motorist and pedestrian should know. During 1931 deaths increased 3.3 per cent. over 1930, in spite of a reduction in the total number of accidents. Severe injuries likewise increased, despite a reduction in the total number of persons injured. This apparent contradiction is laid to the increasing speed with which we drive. Cutting in, violation of the right-of-way laws, driving on the wrong side of the road, skidding and driving off the roadway were likewise responsible for many deaths.

More than 42 per cent. of deaths were caused when a car struck a pedestrian. Collisions with fixed objects accounted for 12.1 per cent., and collisions with other cars 24.9 per cent. In the case of injuries 53.1 per cent. occurred when cars struck each other, and 29.8 per cent. when they struck pedestrians.

These facts are of immense value to the thoughtful motorist. They show the primary causes of accidents and consequently suggest means of eliminating them. Drastic steps must be taken if we are to lower the horrible and steadily-increasing toll of traffic deaths and injuries.

Political Dilemma

To the Editor of "Our Town":
Newspaper reports indicate that our townsman, Fletcher Stites, is going to make the run for Congress as a Dry, supported by the Pinchot forces. This means that Narberth is going to be confronted by an unusual situation at the April Primaries. Narberth is wet, as recent elections conclusively prove. What is Cabrey going to do? Is he going to yield to his friend Stites? I don't see how he can and I don't believe he will. There will be a battle in the town between our ex-State Senator and an organizer, with the odds in favor of the organizer, as the latter will be on the popular side. The problem could be solved by Stites going wet and then he would be sure to sweep the Borough and all of Lower Merion. It would be fine for Narberth to have the Montgomery County Congressman, but it can hardly be expected that an outspoken Dry can expect success in a territory which is unmistakably Wet, and where the people believe there is no more important issue than Prohibition Reform.

OLD FOGEY.

Credit Due to All

To the Editor of "Our Town":
I have read with a great deal of interest your editorial appearing in the February 12th issue of "Our Town," relative to the Borough's finances, and with pardonable pride, your reference to my personal activities in the Borough's affairs.

There is no question but what the Borough of Narberth has passed through a trying period, with the closing of the Merion Title and Trust Company; however, the result obtained in forming new banking affiliations can only be attributed to the splendid co-operation of every Borough Official.

It is common knowledge among those who have given the affairs of the Borough some thought, that we have today an organization which is second to none throughout the State, and I would include in this, the entire Official family, who co-operate with one another in working out these problems to the best interest of the taxpayer.

I would indeed be ungracious if I did not acknowledge the compliment paid me, but I want to again emphasize the fact that full credit is due the entire body. The only compensation which any member of this organization expects from our Taxpayers, is a prompt recognition of their obligations to the Borough, which will be evidenced by a desire on their part to take a greater interest in the Borough's affairs to the ultimate encouragement of every citizen who cheerfully and unselfishly contributes his talents to further our Borough's prosperity.

CLARENCE KAEHER,
Chairman Finance Committee,
Narberth Borough Council.

Local Movies

"Delicious," newest comedy-drama of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, is playing at Narberth this Friday and Saturday. With El Brendel in the cast, it is as pleasing as "Sunny Side Up."

Two features make Narberth's bill next Monday and Tuesday one of unusual interest: George O'Brien and Roscoe Ates in Zane Grey's "Rainbow Trail," and Laurel and Hardy in "Beau Hunks," their second feature-length comedy. The Zane Grey picture's cast includes Minna Gombell, J. M. Kerrigan and James Kirkwood; its photography of the Grand Canyon is exceptionally beautiful; the story itself is a romantic tale of the Golden West, with plenty of comedy, romance and action.

Chester Morris stars in Roland West's exciting story, "Corsair," as a modern Captain Kidd, running riot on the high seas, outsmarting lawless masters of rum row, starting a reign of terror in a stronghold of terrorists. Accompanying it at Narberth next Wednesday and Thursday will be a Harry Lauder film of whimsical and musical appeal.

Recommended for the whole family, including children, is "Platinum Blonde," a sparkling comedy, featuring Loretta Young, Jean Harlow and Robert Williams, which is playing at the Egyptian in Cynwyd this Friday and Saturday, including matinees at 2.15. On the stage is an intimate and whimsical revue, "Make It Snappy," of the type which the Egyptian has popularized recently.

Next Monday and Tuesday, including a holiday matinee Monday at 2.15, a college story, "Maker of Men," starring Jack Holt, will appear at the Egyptian. The feature Wednesday and Thursday will be "His Woman,"

Shreds & Patches

Parents, Sacred and Profane

By the way of introducing into this column last week excerpts from a person letter, the Vagrant was led to put forward the proposition that he, certainly, and probably everyone else, had parents, in a somewhat figurative mental sense, as well as in the actual physical sense. He does not know how that impressed his readers, but it has caused him to search in his memory to learn how many such parents he could discover; that is, people who made an indelible impression on his mind and character, an impression so strong that he would probably be perceptibly different in character and outlook today if he had not had those contact at all. He has found two more, one sacred and the other profane, and he knows not to which he is the more indebted.

The Sacred One

That parent whom he now terms sacred was actually a consecrated priest of an old and historic Church. He was the enthusiastic pastor of a numerous and scattered flock and the father of a large family in which the Vagrant was privileged to live at one period of his youth. He exemplified for the Vagrant the Christian life as it can be lived from day to day, not in celibate seclusion, but surrounded with all the little things which, ceaselessly intruding day after day, are like the drops of water that wear away the hardest stone. That man also revealed to the Vagrant that infrequent adornment of character, urbanity. He was the first practicing Christian who showed the Vagrant that religion need not be austere, that there is a place in the religious life for practically all of the amenities and pleasures of this earthly plane. He asked the blessing reverently and devoutly at each meal, never slipping into a perfunctory jumble, and then led the table talk of a brilliant and free-minded family. Where he sat was the head of the table, not because of any imposed or imposed authority, but because of superiority of mind, of character and of faith. The Vagrant is proud to call him "father."

The Profane One

Then there was the profane one. He was literally profane, one of the most fluent swearers with whom the Vagrant ever came into contact. He was the first man whom the Vagrant ever heard employ a middle initial in the name of the Founder of our religion, and it has since amazed the Vagrant in wide wanderings here and there to hear the same initial always used merely to add another and an emphatic syllable to an oath which is complete without it. (That letter stands for nothing, so far as the Vagrant could ever learn, but he has not yet discovered why that letter and no other out of the entire alphabet should be chosen.) The profane one was a commander and leader of men, whom he cursed with understanding, seldom praised and loyally defended and advanced with all the power that was in him. His highly personalized sarcasms could cut the solid earth from under one's feet and his soaring oaths could scorch the skies. But he was a leader of men. They loved him and they loved the work to which he drove them daily. He was sterling, he was true, he was just and fair and full of understanding, and to this day the Vagrant salutes his memory with humility and gratitude. When speechless in the grip of a fatal disease he wrote the Vagrant's name on a scrap of paper and his fearless eyes commanded one who stood by his hospital bed to convey the unspoken message to the Vagrant who received it miles away with understanding and with sorrow.

Aristocrats Are Bad for Business

Strange how times change and gradually whittle away the firmly-held convictions of our fathers! Words of monarchical flavor are growing in favor here in the United States, and the Vagrant noticed recently that the Associated Press dispatch from Washington, announcing the change of secretary of the Treasury, calmly stated that "Mr. Mills is an aristocrat." It was just a plain, matter-of-fact statement, with no suggestion of meaning other than that which the word ordinarily conveys. America should beware of recognizing any aristocracy. It might be fine socially, but it would be bad for business. A real aristocracy, one securely established and recognized, usually sets and maintains a nation's standards of taste in all the appurtenances and elegancies of life, and aristocrats are always conservative. In free America the manufacturers and the retailers, through their advertising, set the standards of what we shall wear, how we shall furnish our houses, the appearance of our automobiles, and even the color schemes of our bathrooms. Quick changes in style increase sales. Aristocrats would inevitably retard rapid obsolescence in America. All of the real aristocrats whom the Vagrant has ever known were exceedingly conservative "dressers" and were contentedly using the same houses and furniture that their grandfathers had found satisfactory fifty or one hundred years before.

THE VAGRANT.

No Curtailment in Hours at Narberth Library

Curtailed service and hours at the Free Public Library in Philadelphia and at the Ardmore Library, both growing out of curtailed income, have caused many patrons of the Narberth Community Library to inquire at the distribution desk whether there was to be a similar reduction of service in Narberth. It has been gratifying to be able to observe and to hear the expressions of pleasure which have come from those persons when they were told that the Narberth Library will continue its regular hours and service. The Library is open daily, except Sundays and important holidays, from 2 to 9 P. M.

It is a source of satisfaction to all who are officially connected with the Library that there need be no curtailment of service at this time, for lack of employment is giving many people much more leisure time than ordinarily and many of them are reading many more books, both for pleasure and for profit. It is the increasing public demand on the Library which is causing the only curtailment in its activities and that grows out of the fact that the present quarters are not large enough to accommodate the large numbers who are coming there daily in search of books to take out, and those others who like to use the reading tables.

It frequently seems as though the inevitable passing of people to and from the book shelves, to and from the distribution desk, and in and out the door would seriously interfere with the periodicals and reference-book readers at the tables, but there is no complaint. It was a source of regret at the Library that Council was obliged this year to postpone its plan to build another room at the rear, but there is no disagreement with Council's economy program which has prevented a raise in the tax rate.

Washington

Two hundred years have passed away
Since Washington was born,
We thank God for his coming
On that February morn.
To honor our First President
We celebrate all week,
To show how we revere him
In many ways we'll seek.
We love the name of Washington,
We never will forget
How he saved our blessed country
When by foes it was beset.
From oppression by taxation
He took a gallant stand,
And to him we give the credit
Of a free and happy land.
We think of him at Valley Forge,
His army suffered there,
From feet so sore and bare.
We love him for his tenderness,
His sympathy and care,
For his starving, suffering army,
He would seek God's aid in prayer.
We honor our First President,
His name we all revere.

Benj. Rush Chapter, D. A. R. Holds Washington Anniversary

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. R. held a meeting at the home of Mrs. E. B. Hoskins, 313 Woodside avenue, Narberth, on Monday afternoon, in celebration of the George Washington Bi-Centennial Celebration. Mrs. Harry M. Chalfant, Vice-Regent of the Chapter, presided.

Mrs. Hugh Glenn Martin, Regent of the Chapter, and Mrs. Charles M. Irwin, former Regent, were elected delegates to D. A. R. Convention to be held in Washington, D. C., in April. Those elected as alternate delegates are Mrs. E. C. Town, Mrs. John Nash, Mrs. Stewart Anderson and Mrs. Chalfant.

A feature of the program was a number of dramatic readings by Miss Elsie Wiegner. In the group were "Man Without A Country," by Edward Everett Hale; "Life Has Love-ness To Sell," "Christopher Robin Saying His Prayers," and a number of humorous skits, among them "Minnie At the Skating Rink," "A Modern Version of Romeo and Juliet."

Mrs. Frederick T. Van Auker read an article from the D. A. R. Magazine related to the February Events in the Life of George Washington, which included the events of his early life in Virginia, those which occurred during the Revolution, and ending with February, 1799, when Nellie Custis became the bride of Lawrence Lewis.

Mrs. S. Z. Shope and Mrs. Frederick A. Egmore poured at the tea which followed the meeting, while Mrs. C. Arley Farmer was co-hostess with Mrs. Hoskins.

Shull Lumber Company, 29 Bala Ave.; Bala-Cynwyd, Pa.

Two Centuries Ago,

when George Washington was born

there was coal in the Pennsylvania hills—good anthracite that had been there for millions of years. But not until one century ago did we commence using that coal. . . . The best of it is the kind we sell. It is noted for its even heat and economy. It is floated in a cone-cleaning process that washes it to remove dirt. This makes for low ash, high carbon, and the sort of cleanliness a clean cellar will appreciate.

Narberth Club Women Hear of Martha Washington

early in life left a widow with two children and a large fortune. It was in 1758 when she was staying at the home of Mr. Chamberlayne she met the illustrious George. Mr. Chamberlayne, the soul of southern hospitality met Washington while he was crossing the Ferry called Williams over the Pamunkey, and invited him to take dinner with him. Colonel Washington refused, saying that he had important business in Williamsburg; but on Chamberlayne's statement that he had a beautiful wealthy widow staying with him, Washington reluctantly agreed to stay. Nevertheless, he told Bishop, his body servant, to have his horses ready at two o'clock. Bishop waited, dusk fell, and Mr. Chamberlayne ordered the horses put up, as he said he allowed no one to ride away from his home after dusk. Chamberlayne is quoted as saying, "Ah, Bishop, there is an urchin in the drawing room more powerful than King George and all his governors." Next day Washington rode to Williamsburg and after his business was dispatched, returned. The marriage of Mrs. Custis and George Washington took place on June 6, 1759, at the lady's home. It was a gorgeous wedding, with a number of bridal attendants.

The delicacy of Mrs. Washington's nature, which led her just before her death, to destroy the letters that had passed from her husband and herself, proves the depth and purity of her love. One letter to his wife in which he announced his appointment as Commander-in-Chief of the American Army and perhaps another is still in existence.

Following the wedding, Colonel and Mrs. Washington, lived at Mount Vernon, which Washington had inherited from his step-brother, Lawrence. At that time it was a very small building, compared to its present extent. The Mansion House consisted of four rooms, on a floor, which is the center of the present building. In 1774 Colonel Washington departed for the first Continental Congress in Philadelphia, and became Commander-in-Chief of the American Army. He did not reside at Mount Vernon again until after peace in 1793.

Roosevelt Group Forming

A meeting of the Roosevelt for President League to perfect a statewide organization has been called for Monday, February 22, at Harrisburg. Edward S. Haws, Narberth Democrat, has been requested by the committee to attend the meeting and to bring with him other Montgomery County men interested in the movement.

Hear About Fly-Fishing

Dr. H. G. Saunders was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club on Tuesday. He gave an interesting talk on "Fly-Fishing in America." Dr. Romaine C. Hoffman introduced the speaker.

Music Supervisors Meet

A meeting of the Montgomery County Music Supervisors was held at the Narberth Public School on Wednesday. The program included an address of welcome by W. J. Drennan, principal of the Narberth School, selections by the School Orchestra and Glee Club, school singing, singing by special groups, and an address by Miss Gladys Hooper.

Legion to Encourage Bi-centennial Displays

Welfare Officer. Members received with enthusiasm the offer of Adjutant Clifford Goodwin to attempt to secure for the Community, as a memorial, an anti-aircraft gun.

Chairman Alex Betus announced that arrangements had been completed with the management of the Narberth Theatre for a six-day benefit. Dates and attractions will be announced later.

At this point several members, including Burgess Henry Frye, pointed out that there have been reported numerous cases of "racketeering" or attempts to mulct citizens of Narberth through the improper use of uniforms, caps, and other military equipment. Several members reported instances of questionable statements in regard to a "benefit" for Veterans under the auspices of a Veterans' organization in a nearby section. It was reported that telephone solicitors had used names of local Legionnaires without authority and had told conflicting stories as to the aims, purposes, and nature of the "benefit." It is believed that such statements and tactics are neither sanctioned nor encouraged by the organization backing the affair, but that solicitors and promoters are using these methods to sell tickets.

Members of the Post voiced the fear that the impression was gaining ground in Narberth that the local Legion was backing and benefiting from this affair.

Commander Mowrer made the following official statement: "I want the people of Narberth to know that the Legion here is at all times ready to help any ex-service man in distress and anxious to co-operate with all organizations in welfare projects. In the present instance, however, we are absolutely NOT connected, officially or unofficially, with the project for which tickets are being sold in the Borough. We have NOT been asked to endorse this project and have not done so. The Legion has no connection whatever with the project. It is suggested that when you are approached for funds for 'Veterans' relief or aid, you ascertain from officers of the Post, or from Burgess Frye, if the matter is authentic. Any request for funds or co-operation for the local Legion will come to you from members of the Post or from citizens known to you." It was voted to send a letter to the organization sponsoring the Benefit, calling attention to this situation.

A case was reported by Burgess Frye of a man wearing an "overseas" cap and displaying an artificial foot. He was soliciting alms with the plea, "Help a poor buddy." Investigation disclosed that the foot had been lost in an accident only a few years ago and that the man was receiving an allowance from the Government of thirty dollars per month, although the foot had not been lost in the war. This type of "panhandling" on the sentimental appeal of "war disability" seems to be on the increase and should be thoroughly repressed, Legion officers believe. Residents of the Borough are requested to report cases at once to officers for investigation.

Commander Mowrer appointed Past Commander Schrepfer and Welfare Officer Clarke to represent the Post at the Washington's Birthday celebration at Valley Forge next Monday, when General Pershing will review the Boy Scouts of the vicinity.

bert's "Serenade," "Sylvia" and "Sweet and Low." Mrs. Cletus Senft also sang two numbers, "On a Hill-Top" and "Homing." The musical numbers were greatly enjoyed. Miss Cully, teacher of third grade, was presented with an appropriate picture for her classroom as a reward for the highest percentage of parent membership in the local association.

The candle-lighting service commemorating Founders' Day was effectively presented. Mrs. Frances Hayward read the significance attached to each candle as it was lighted. Kathryn Bailey lighted the white one, in memory of the founders of the Parent-Teachers' Association. Mrs. Walter Greenwood, the blue one, representing the National Association; Miss Florence Bishop, the red one, representing the Educational Force in the life of the state organization, and Mrs. Samuel McCartney, the gold one, representing the local organization. The lighting of the candles was followed by the singing of "America."

At the close of the meeting a reception was held for Mrs. Greenwood by the Hospitality Committee, of which Mrs. Robert Nash is the chairman.

As a large number of parents have expressed a desire to confer with the teachers on meeting nights, the following teachers have elected to meet such parents before the meetings in the Teachers' Room: Misses Williams, McAuliffe, Enion, Bishop, Worst, Cully, Hoover, Fricke, Gassner, Dale, Mrs. Symon and Mrs. Postelle. The remaining teachers have elected to meet the parents after the meeting, as follows: Misses Moore, Church, Miller, Hoke, Enion, McAuliffe, Mrs. Brenner, Mr. Harkness, Mr. Wetherall and Mr. Kline. The parents are very grateful for this cooperation on the part of the teachers and the proposed conference plan is an important step looking toward the consummation of the aim of the association as expressed by the speaker of the evening.

Correct Address Plan is Proposed by Dunne

Correct addresses can be given at a minimum of inconvenience, Mr. Dunne believes, by business people in the heart of Narberth. Strangers find pharmacies and other stores open evenings, Sundays and holidays, with any needed information, and also telephones with which to communicate with friends. The only problem is to direct visitors to the business section.

To do this, it is proposed to erect neat, attractive signs at street corners along Montgomery pike, Wynnewood road and other through-traffic streets that border Narberth, directing motorists to the business section on Haverford avenue. In order that this may be done, criticism and suggestions are invited from residents of the borough, since it is primarily for their benefit and that of their guests that the signs are intended.

Seventeen members attended the Business Council meeting Wednesday. Final plans were made for their observance of the Washington Bi-Centennial. Confidence was reposed in the Executive Board to inaugurate some of the projects outlined in the questionnaire. Decision was made that the next meeting will be held at the Arcadia Restaurant, Wednesday, March 16.

Dr. Gordon Suppresses Report of M. L. Depositors' Committee

thorized by this act, and excepting when the production of such information in a proceeding in any court is duly required by subpoena issued by special order of the court, etc."

"Provided, however, That the secretary on the written request or consent of any corporation, authorized by resolution of its board of directors, or on written request or consent of any person, under the supervision of the department, may discuss, with an advisory committee selected by the secretary or selected by such corporation or person as the secretary may deem pertinent to the rehabilitation thereof; etc."

Declares Dr. Gordon in his petition to the Court:

"That defendants herein, acting as said committee, secured the information sought by them and furnished to them by plaintiff under the authority of the resolution of the board of directors, it being understood and agreed by the committee and the several members thereof, that said information was available to them and to be used by them solely for the purpose of effecting a rehabilitation of the Merion Title and Trust Company."

Dr. Gordon further stated that the final report of the committee contained a recommendation that plans for the rehabilitation of the Merion Title and Trust Company, as such, be abandoned.

"Despite notice to the defendants not to publish such a report, Dr. Gordon states that he has been informed that the defendants, or some of them, desire and will attempt to publish the report."

The petition of Dr. Gordon also states that he would prefer to have the Depositors' Committee restrained from publishing their report until the filing of the inventory and appraisal of the Merion Title and Trust Company, as required by law.

Publication of the depositors' report, Dr. Gordon avers in another section of his 12-page petition, "will work serious injury to the estate of the said institution."

Attorney Swartz, in presenting the petition, did not elucidate as to how the serious injury would be inflicted on the bank's estate. Also, it is understood, that it was not debated at length as to how this information would be either inimical or prejudicial to creditors and depositors.

Arguments presented at the hearing in behalf of the committee were to the effect that the section of the banking act involved was drawn up for express purpose of protecting depositors and citizens from any divulgence of information by employees of the Banking Department. That the section was in reality a protection for the people and should not be invoked against the people to suppress information to which they were entitled by constitutional rights.

Women's Mimicry of Men Lamented by Dr. "Jack" Hart at Recent Junior Club Meeting

A meeting of the Juniors of Narberth was held at the scout wing, Community building, last Thursday evening, the President, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, presiding. Reports were made by the various committee chairmen, Mrs. James D. Moore announcing that the next social meeting would be held on February 25 in the Scout Room, and would take the form of a party to the Sub-Junior of Narberth. Miss Alberta Davis announced on behalf of the Finance Committee, two subscription card parties, the first to be held the evening of March 3 at her home, on Iona avenue; the next on March 31 at the home of Miss Margaret Livingston.

Miss Margaret Kent, chairman of the program committee, introduced Rev. Robert Keighton and Dr. "Jack" Hart, as speakers of the evening. Mr. Keighton, the minister of Narberth's own Baptist Church, spoke first, and his words were enjoyed very greatly by the girls and their mothers and friends attending as guests. He pointed out that modern religion has developed to be a very personal religion; that just as the drama in its cycle through the years has developed, from portraying themes of the whole wide world to the present trend of depicting very personal conflicts and emotions, so religion is now tending to mean the development of the "spark that is within" to a more intense degree.

Dr. Hart spoke very feelingly upon a subject which he asserted was extremely close to his heart—his talk was in the nature of a lament—although a very pleasantly put one—that modern living, with all its advantages, has lost something in the way of refinement. Dr. Hart considered that the desire of woman to put herself on an equal footing with man has crowded out the little refinements of gesture, speech and conduct to which man has always looked for inspiration. While he applauded and believed in the equality of the sexes as far as advancement in the educational and industrial fields for women were concerned, he regretted that the fairer sex seemed to believe that such equality should beget the mimicry of all man's tastes and habits. Dr. Hart's manner and friendly informality of speech were so conducive to inspiring confidence that his audience, while perhaps not entirely of one mind on all the points brought out in the course of the talk, were enthusiastic in their reception of his words, and were very much pleased to have heard both these well-known ministers at such close range.

Mrs. Harold Griest played several beautiful selections on the piano, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Shea and her committee.

Junior High Leopards Defeat Pottstown for Twelfth Straight Win

Jr. High Conquers Pottstown, 23 to 17

Gane Big Gun in Twelfth Consecutive Victory for Leopard Passers

14TH WIN OF SEASON

Lower Merion Junior High won her twelfth consecutive basketball encounter of the season Tuesday night and her fourteenth victory in 15 starts, when Captain Mike Zengel and his squad met and defeated Pottstown Junior High for the second time this season, 23 to 17, on the latter's floor.

Fred Gane was the big gun for the Leopards, sinking five field goals in the last half to put the team in the van. Mike Zengel had four field goals, and Harry Shillingford scored twice from the floor.

The work of Shillingford at forward and McMahon at guard was outstanding, both of these boys playing a great floor game, their passing being an outstanding factor in the team's victory. Zengel played his usual strong game, but his shots were bounding out of the basket on numerous occasions. The ability of the team to take the ball from the backboards in the second half gave them the advantage. They trailed the enemy, 5 to 8, at half-time.

Junior High Notes

The junior high chess team, sponsored and coached by Leon Perkins, of the school faculty, has played two matches thus far this season, winning both of them by scores of 3 to 1. Haverford Junior High was met in the school library at Lower Merion two weeks ago and managed to win one game of the four played. Upper Darby was played at Lower Merion last week, and Coach Perkins' players again lost only one game of the match.

The team goes to Northeast High School on Wednesday for their next engagement.

The players on the squad are Bill Tietz, Dale Herndon, Doris Turner and Katherine DeHuff. Reserves are Mildred McCormick, Jack Crown, Bill Humes, John Bragg and John Latchum.

Against Upper Darby, Herndon beat Norton, Turner resigned to Kayson, DeHuff defeated McAdam and Tietz won from Santmyers. In the Haverford meet, Tietz defeated Hartman, Turner won from Ruf, Latchum won from Striegler and McCormick lost to Weber.

There is a cup for the winner in the suburban triangle, consisting of Haverford, Lower Merion and Upper Darby. Lower Merion leads, with a score of 6 to 1 to 1.

Miss Lillian Sharpe presented "Living Pictures" to the assembly gathering on Wednesday. Boys and girls took poses in a specially prepared frame with proper lighting effects, representing masterpieces of famous painters. Mr. Valentine Kirby, director of art in public schools of the State, was present and gave a talk on art to the audience at the close of the program.

The following pictures were presented, along with introductory remarks by pupils:

1. "The Blue Boy," Betty McCall; story, Frances Land.
2. "The Spirit of '76," Ray VanderVeer, James Boggs, Jeff Smith; story, Constance Topley.
3. "The Pot of Basil," Elfreda Mahler; story, Nancy Supplee.
4. "The Sower," Sam Taylor; story, Florence Schroeder.
5. "The Duchess of Devonshire," Jay Grubbs; story, Barbara Wood.
6. "The Friese of the Prophets Horia," Bud Harmstead; story, Mary Louise Kingsbury.
7. "Pinkie," Betty Baldrige; story, Jane Voight.
8. "George Washington," Andrew Skillern; story, Louise Smith.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Billy Tietz, of Narberth, is hardly big enough to be a star on the varsity teams at Lower Merion Junior High School, but his mental attainments entitle him to the number one position on the school's chess team, which already has two clean-cut victories to its credit against outside schools. Haverford Junior High and Upper Darby Junior High have each dropped decisions to the locals by scores of 3 to 1.

No. 1 Billy Tietz showed his mental courage in the Upper Darby matches last week when he lost two major pieces in exchange for a pawn early in the game. He rallied brilliantly in the middle game, evened up the situation and finally checkmated his man after an hour and a half of grilling play.

The Junior High Chess team, composed of Billy Tietz, Dale Herndon, Doris Turner and Katherine DeHuff, will meet the Northeast High School team February 24.

The Lower Merion Juniors won their twelfth consecutive basketball victory Tuesday night against Pottstown Jr. in a rip-roaring game, at Pottstown.

Coach Bill Anderson congratulated Radnor High for having a better team than the Maroon. He stated that he didn't mind losing a game like that, but the Norristown game was one to make a fellow sick. Those who saw the two teams in action this season believe the Maroon to be stronger than Norristown by many points.

Lower Merion goes on record as hoping that there are no more Herbst boys to go to school at Norristown High. During the past seven years there have been three boys in that family who have meant disaster to the local basketball hopes of beating Norristown. Seven or eight years ago "Red" Herbst, first of the tribe, ran wild against us in two games. Four years ago the second "Red" Herbst came along and in the second half of the game with Lower Merion leading 16 to 10 ran more than wild to run up some fifteen or sixteen points single-handed to win out. Then this year came "Peewee" "Red" Herbst, the last of the line, we hope, and it was his individual brilliance last Friday night that brought victory to the Norristown colors.

All three of the Herbst boys were and are little fellows. They act alike and resemble a phial of nitro-glycerine on the basketball floor. They explode so fast they can hardly be seen. But their presence has certainly been felt.

The Maroon team ran up against a good team at Radnor Tuesday night. Prevost has his first good team at Radnor in basketball. They are a veteran aggregation, having played together for five years in Junior and Senior High. Badger and Soleline are the two kingpins of the group. Radnor is at the top of the B League in the suburbs.

Many of the suburban schools, both senior and junior highs will send relay teams into the Meadowbrook games Saturday.

This is the first year that Coach Adam has entered a team, but the Junior High has taken part for two years, winning the first year, and coming second last year. Upper Darby Junior High won first place in suburban junior high relay last season, but was defeated by Lower Merion Juniors in three subsequent meetings.

It looks like Haverford High will squeeze through to her first basketball championship this season. The story will have another ending next season with Norristown holding fifteen veterans on her squad. Bill Anderson will have to rebuild again next year, losing all but two men. He will have two juniors, about three seniors and half a dozen sophomores to pick for his first string squad a year from now. Hanger, Ramsey and Poorman will be seniors and none of them have any varsity experience, except a minute now and then. Stanley and Hinchey, good little guards, will be back as juniors with a season of varsity experience. Both of them have a long way to go to be exceptional high school performers. Junior High will send over six or seven pieces of good timber in Mike Zengel, Ellwood Heller, Fred Gane, John McMahon, Mike DeBeausset, Robert Canfield and others. Thomas, Williams, Talley and Grace will be among the missing.

We look for another championship at the Maroon institution year after next.

Norristown's Garrison Finish Beats Maroon

Score Five Points in Final Minute of Play to Win, 26 to 24

WILLIAMS SINKS 14 PTS.

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Little "Peewee" Hatton's last-second field goal gave Norristown a sensational victory over Lower Merion in their game at Stewart Gymnasium last Friday night, 26 to 24. Lower Merion held the edge on the play throughout the game until the final minute of battle, when everything went wrong in one grand spill.

With the Andersons leading Norristown by five points, young Herbst got hold of the ball and looped a one-handed "heaven-help-me" shot at the basket, which shot through the net cleanly, and then missed a foul shot, which was passed out to Center Waltz or one of his substitutes, who made another field goal and then shot his foul toss to tie the score without the ball going back to center—an unusual sight in basketball. With the score tied and only a fraction of a second to go, Forward Hatton sent the ball spinning off Jack Hinchey's fingertips from near the middle of the floor through the hoop, and as it sailed along, the gun barked the end of the game and a victory for Norristown.

Such was the battle, and thus did Lady Luck—a fickle wench at best—turn from Bill Anderson, his boys and hundreds of Lower Merion rooters who had gone to Norristown to prove the superiority of the Maroon team. We may insert a personal mention at this point to state that we believe them superior in spite of the results of the game. Norristown had a scrappy ball club, and, though we grant that they deserved the victory because they got it, we claim that Captain Roy Williams and his mates deserved the victory twice over because they didn't get it.

Lower Merion Bows to Radnor Five, 28-23

Captain Ray Williams Outstanding Man, Scoring Ten Points

FIRST WIN IN YEARS

Captain Roy Williams and his teammates ran up against a fast court combination at Radnor High Tuesday evening and lost a close game by the score of 28 to 23. This represents the widest margin that any team has gained in defeating Lower Merion this season and shows that, despite eight defeats, the Maroon team is in the same class with all of her opponents.

Captain Williams was easily the outstanding man on the floor. He rang up 10 points to increase his scoring total to 78 points in six games at forward. Hen Soleliac and Forward Badger were the outstanding boys for Prevost, but they were well supported by the other members of the cast. Jack Hinchey is becoming potent as a scoring guard of possibilities for Anderson. He dropped in two field goals in this game, and he had three against Norristown last Friday night.

This victory represents Radnor's first win over the Maroon in several years in basketball, but the team deserved this victory by the work turned in by a fast, well-shooting quintet.
